

Children's Film Academy presents

Le Cinema, cent ans de jeunesse

Cinema: Hundred Years of Youth an international programme in filmmaking for young people

Created & Co-ordinated by

La Cinematheque Française, Paris

History of the Programme

Cinema Cent ans de Jenuesse was initiated by Cinematheque Française in 1995 to celebrate the hundred years of cinema. It offered an experimental cinematic training which cultivated ways of seeing along with skills for creative expression. The well-designed approach to film training attracted the attention of educationists and since then, CCAJ has evolved into a network of cultural partners from more than 13 countries

An International Network

Operating across international and local levels, the project is brought to life by cinematheques, art house cinemas, regional resource centres and cultural associations.

2016-2017 Theme of the year

Play, free space between imagination and reality: 8 regions of France and 13 countries from all over the world come together around this year's theme.

Children's Film Academy joins La Cinémathèque française as cultural partners in their highly acclaimed filmmaking programme.

Students watch film clips from international film heritage and practice the craft of film making under the guidance of film teachers and film professionals.

A unique feature of this programme is that every year, it dwells on one aspect of cinema. In the previous years, these have included light/shade, color, camera movement, hidden/revealed, foreground/background among others.

The programme culminates in a film made by the students, informed by their own perspective on the cinematic aspect under study.

children experience. children express

CFA brings joyful learning to children through hands on training in filmmaking. Film education programs at CFA are designed in a way that children learn about themselves and the world around them through the joy of making their own films, watching films with a greater critical awareness, and developing their own multiple talents through the medium that embraces almost all the arts as well as the latest technology.

Our aim is to inspire children to imagine, to believe and to create whatever they can dream.

For more information please visit cine matheque. fr/cine ma 100 ans dejeunes sewww.childrens film academy. in

Academic Support By
The British Film Institute

Registration

Course Fee Rs.6750/-

For course details & enrollment, please contact your Institute.

OR

Children's Film Academy

Mobile: 96194 63545 / 96194 63507 / 98330 07199

Email: cfa@post.com

Web: www.childrensfilmacademy.in

Social Links:

